Cardiopulmonary monitors arrive in the Neonatology Intensive Care Unit in Prishtina

These equipments have been very necessary for our clinic and we are very grateful for this donation. Now our babies will have the proper and necessary care" declared Dr. Shpresa Sylejmani, doctor in the Neonatology Clinic in UCC. The monitors are connected directly to the infant body to monitor vital signs such as temperature, measure heart and breathing rates in infants and emit signals when these signs change or deteriorate.
